		When igFormatter is used in the igGrid column of dataType "string" and the decimal formatter is different than period ".", then after editing the decimal separator is removed Note: When regional settings are used in which the decimal separator is different from period '.' and in the same time when we have a grid column that is of type string, then the value of that column is not formatted correctly. For example, when in the data source when we have the following value, using German regional settings - "1.000,25" (this is string), this will be converted to 1.00025 as numeric, which is bit more than 1. The value should stay 1.000,25 which is equal to 1000.25 in English format.

igGridPaging	Bug Fix	Canceling the pageSizeChanging and pageIndexChanging events does not revert the state of the pager drop downs.
