What's New

Component	Feature Name	Descriptions
XamDataChart	Zooming Improvements	Added new property called UseTiledZooming on the DataChart control. This property increases zooming performance of the chart control by providing more caching of rendered images at the cost of low rendering fidelity while a user performs zooming operations. This feature is intended for scenarios where a lot of data points are plotted in the DataChart control and/or zooming performance is more important than rendering of chart visuals such as axis gridlines while zooming. By default, this functionality is disabled and developers can enable it by setting this property to true.
XamGeographicMap	Zooming Improvements	Added new property called UseTiledZooming on the Geographic Map control. This property increases zooming performance of the map control by providing more caching of imagery tiles at the cost of low rendering fidelity while a user performs zooming operations. By default, this functionality is disabled and developers can enable it by setting this property to true.
